

Living Streams Community Nursery

State Highway 75

Little River

October 7th 2019

Hi friends,

The weather has been very erratic the last few weeks, and it decided to rain on our open days. Which explains why we unfortunately had to close. Apologies for that.

We have still got plenty of plants looking for a good home, Dont forget beautiful Myrsine divaricata, a smallish tree with very attractive drooping branches and an abundance of purple berries.

Myrsine divaricata

Very welcome are milk cartons. Less suitable are soymilk containers and the like, as the silver paper lining seems to create a sogyness.

We are still looking for some more volunteers. Even an hour or so will be very helpful. Part of the volunteering is watering plants.

So far we have managed three times weekly. It needs 2 people at anytime of the day to do half the nursery. This takes about an hour.

We would also like to remind you that applications for the job of Coordinator close the 11th of October at 5pm.

Greetings from
Living Streams Community Nursery